

Professor Andrew Carr

UK

Professor Andrew Carr, British academic and surgeon. He has been the Nuffield Professor of Orthopaedic Surgery, a fellow of Worcester College and head of the Nuffield Department of Orthopaedics Rheumatology and Musculoskeletal Sciences (NDORMS) at the University of Oxford since 2001. He is distinguished for developing surgical implants and for his leadership in the use of randomised clinical trials. He founded the Botnar Research Centre in 2002. His awards include the Robert Jones Gold Medal of the British Orthopaedic Association, a Hunterian Professorship of the Royal College of Surgeons of England and the 2016 Steindler Award from the USA.