

Dr Brett A Firtsch

Australia

Dr Firtsch is a specialist knee surgeon in Sydney. He is a director of the North Shore Knee Clinic and Sydney Orthopaedic Research Institute. He specialises in all aspects of knee surgery, with a particular focus on complex ligament reconstruction and robotic assisted arthroplasty. He has extensive publications in the field of knee surgery and is a reviewer for several international orthopaedic journals including the AJSM, the Bone and Joint Journal (BJJ), and The Knee. He is an active member of a multitude of specialist societies including the Australian Knee Society, ISAKOS knee committee, AOSSM, and the ESSKA Collateral Ligament Working Group.